

PNA Report Cell by Cell Key

Fitness Relative to the Horizon

This section describes the planets ability to conduct its business. The horizontal level is one of three levels upon which a planet's fitness is judged.

Fitness Relative to the Lights

Fitness relative to the lights is part of the assessment of ability in the planetary realm and involves two concepts. The first is whether a planet can be seen, or is visible in the sky. The second is whether its motion is direct or retrograde. Schmidt says that for a planet to be optimally fit on this level, it should be both direct and visible. If a planet cannot be seen, then it is not permitted to execute its agenda. If it is not direct, then it is not fully in control of its motion and tends to stumble.

Fitness Relative to the Zodiac

Schmidt says that if a planet is in any of its own places, that it is in command of its own resources and can Effect from its own significations. If a planet is in the place of a sectmate, then it can effect through the planet(s) that are sect mates. If it is in an alien place, then it can only affect the things of the domicile lord, but it cannot effect from its own significations. Schmidt says that these are similar to pivot, post-ascension and decline with pivots being similar in nature to "own places", post-ascensions similar to "place of sect mate" and declines similar to "alien places".

Energy Relative to the Horizon

These next 3 steps involve energy concepts that show how energetic a planet is in pursuing its agenda. While the first 3 steps show how able a planet is to pursue its agenda, Schmidt says that it does not necessarily do so with any enthusiasm unless it is somehow goaded into action. This is where the dynamical house divisions come in, particularly if a planet is near one of the angles or not. In this case we are focusing on the other meaning of "kentron" which means "goad" or "prod". In this program, I have specified that a planet is goaded if it is dynamically angular, or if it is within 5.1 degrees of an angle while cadent. Otherwise, it will say "not goaded".

Energy Relative to the Lights

This section concerns whether a planet is energetic on the "planetary" realm. In this case, intensification is shown by planets making heliacal phases to the Sun, or by changing direction (from retrograde to direct or vice versa (the stations). The standard shown in Hephastio was to see if a planet makes any of these configurations within 7 days before or after birth. The Sun is exempt from such consideration due to the fact that it defines the phase relationships, and because it has the most energy.

Energy Relative to the Zodiac

Schmidt has tentatively assigned the trigon consideration as showing energy relative to the zodiac because the trigons have been associated with the winds. The wind is an efficient cause and is that which drives the "boat". What we are concerned with here is whether a planet is in its own wind, whether it is in a cooperating wind or is in a foreign wind. These too are similar in nature to the angular, succedent or cadent signs where being in one's own trigon is roughly equivalent to being angular... Keep in mind that only the quality of being in one's own trigon is certain. We're unsure about the assignments of cooperating or foreign trigons as these winds may lead to unknown destinations.

Completion Relative to the Horizon

The next 3 concepts have to do with completion. Schmidt says that while a planet may be able or fit and have energy, it may not necessarily manifest in a material way. This is where the lot houses come in as a reflection of Aristotle's conception of the nature of change: Dunamis has to do with the potential of something (related to fitness). Energeia raises the potential to the level of being at work. Intellichea is the outcome, or result (completion). Therefore, these next 3 pages show how the planets significations are brought about in their effects. A planet that is in a pivot relative to the lot houses has more immediate completion. A planet in an epinaphora will refer back it's completion. A planet in decline may deflect away or deny its completion.

Completion Relative to the Lights

That which comes to pass under the sublunary sphere is dictated by the Moon. While the Sun defined ability and energy in the rows above, the Moon defines its completion. This is where lunar application comes in. There are 3 possible values "Applying", "Separating" and "Separated". The range of application and separation is 13 degrees. Planets are more likely to have a lasting impact if they are applying, moderately so if separating and less so if separated.

Completion Relative to the Zodiac

Completion relative to the zodiac involves the quadruplicities because these determine the type of result that is established: whether that which is accomplished is of a lasting nature (fixed / solid), is bifurcated in some manner (bi-corporeal / mutable), or is initiated but later broken off (cardinal / tropical).

PNA Report Cell by Cell Key

Fitness Relative to the Horizon

This section describes the planets ability to conduct its business. The horizontal level is one of three levels upon which a planet's fitness is judged.

Fitness Relative to the Lights

Fitness relative to the lights is part of the assessment of ability in the planetary realm and involves two concepts. The first is whether a planet can be seen, or is visible in the sky. The second is whether its motion is direct or retrograde. Schmidt says that for a planet to be optimally fit on this level, it should be both direct and visible. If a planet cannot be seen, then it is not permitted to execute its agenda. If it is not direct, then it is not fully in control of its motion and tends to stumble.

Fitness Relative to the Zodiac

Schmidt says that if a planet is in any of its own places, that it is in command of its own resources and can Effect from its own significations. If a planet is in the place of a sectmate, then it can effect through the planet(s) that are sect mates. If it is in an alien place, then it can only affect the things of the domicile lord, but it cannot effect from its own significations. Schmidt says that these are similar to pivot, post-ascension and decline with pivots being similar in nature to "own places", post-ascensions similar to "place of sect mate" and declines similar to "alien places".

Energy Relative to the Horizon

Energy Relative to the Lights

This section concerns whether a planet is energetic on the "planetary" realm. In this case, intensification is shown by planets making heliacal phases to the Sun, or by changing direction (from retrograde to direct or vice versa (the stations). The standard shown in Hephastio was to see if a planet makes any of these configurations within 7 days before or after birth. The Sun is exempt from such consideration due to the fact that it defines the phase relationships, and because it has the most energy.

Energy Relative to the Zodiac

Schmidt has tentatively assigned the trigon consideration as showing energy relative to the zodiac because the trigons have been associated with the winds. The wind is an efficient cause and is that which drives the "boat". What we are concerned with here is whether a planet is in its own wind, whether it is in a cooperating wind or is in a foreign wind. These too are similar in nature to the angular, succedent or cadent signs where being in one's own trigon is roughly equivalent to being angular... Keep in mind that only the quality of being in one's own trigon is certain. We're unsure about the assignments of cooperating or foreign trigons as these winds may lead to unknown destinations.

Completion Relative to the Horizon

The next 3 concepts have to do with completion. Schmidt says that while a planet may be able or fit and have energy, it may not necessarily manifest in a material way. This is where the lot houses come in as a reflection of Aristotle's conception of the nature of change: Dunamis has to do with the potential of something (related to fitness). Energeia raises the potential to the level of being at work. Intellichea is the outcome, or result (completion). Therefore, these next 3 pages show how the planets significations are brought about in their effects. A planet that is in a pivot relative to the lot houses has more immediate completion. A planet in an epinaphora will refer back it's completion. A planet in decline may deflect away or deny its completion.

Completion Relative to the Lights

That which comes to pass under the sublunary sphere is dictated by the Moon. While the Sun defined ability and energy in the rows above, the Moon defines its completion. This is where lunar application comes in. There are 3 possible values "Applying", "Separating" and "Separated". The range of application and separation is 13 degrees. Planets are more likely to have a lasting impact if they are applying, moderately so if separating and less so if separated.

Completion Relative to the Zodiac

Completion relative to the zodiac involves the quadruplicities because these determine the type of result that is established: whether that which is accomplished is of a lasting nature (fixed / solid), is bifurcated in some manner (bi-corporeal / mutable), or is initiated but later broken off (cardinal / tropical).